

Irene Protopapadakis is an English and Psychology graduate of Truman College in the US. She is an EFL teacher as well as a KPG script marker and oral examiner. A self-described ardent supporter of TESOL Greece, she has been an active member and a Board member for many years. She has always been interested in the researching, developing and adaptation of new trends in teaching.