

Maroussa Pavli has a BA in English Language and Literature from Athens University and an MA in Applied Linguistics and TESOL from the University of Leicester in England. She started her 14-year career at private language schools. She then taught English for Specific Purposes at a Private Institute of Vocational Training [I.I.E.K]. For the last 9 years she has worked exclusively with adult learners. Apart from preparing students for Michigan, TOEFL and GMAT exams, she has been teaching General English and English for Business and Communication. She has taught pre-sessional EAP and Study Skills courses at UK Universities. Her interests are in the fields of ESP, EAP, Sociolinguistics and lexicography and more recently, translation and subtitling.