

Panagiota Arnaouti, born and raised in Athens, recently graduated from the English Department of the University of Athens but has been teaching English and Modern Greek Philology for the last six years. She is particularly interested in literature and gender issues both inside of and outside of the language classroom. She is now enjoying her third term as Treasurer of TESOL Greece.