

Vassiliki (Bessy) Geka is currently an undergraduate student of the University of Athens, Faculty of English Language and Literature, and is about to graduate with Honours from the Department of Linguistics. Presently, she is employed in the Research Centre for the English Language (RCEL) of the University of Athens that has been founded in order to support (among others) the English language testing project for the KPG. Bessy has been a member of TESOL Greece for 4 years and is interested in English Language Teaching Methodology and Applied Linguistics.