

Title of Presentation:

It's behind you! Oh no, it isn't! Oh yes, it is!

Brief Summary:

Simple drama techniques can bring our lessons to life in the primary classroom. They build on our children's natural spontaneity, energy and sense of fun, they allow for guided participation and they make language memorable. You don't have to be an actress to use them. Visual aids, simple props, exaggeration, movement, rhythm and a sense of humour are all you need. Jeanne Perrett talks you through the theory and gives you lots of practical ideas and activities to use in your classes.
